Computer Shop Management System

Business Use-Case Specification :

< Import computer >

Revision History

Date	Version	Description	Author
3/1/2018	1.0	< details>	Luong Thai Duong

Table of Contents

Business Use-Case Specification : < Import computer >

1. Introduction
   1.1. Purpose
   The purpose of this business use-case is to show how the computer shop owner gets the supply of computer from the supplier.
   1.2. Scope
   The scope of this business use-case is associated with the Computer Management System to be deployed.
   1.3. Definiton, Acronyms, and Abbreviations
   1.4. References
   1.5. Overview
   The rest of Business Use-Case Specification contains goal, risk, process owner and special requirement.
2. Business Use-Case Name
   2.1. Brief Description
   The use-case here is " Impport" , which means in this situation the computer shop owner request a number of computer to the supplier so that will have more computers to sell.
3. Goals
   The goal of the business use-case is to receive the ordered computers for the shop.
4. Performance Goals
   4.1. < The owner gets computer, the supplier receives money >
   This perfomance goal is about the final state of the use case when the owner receives the ordered computers and the supplier receives money for importing those computers.
5. Workflow.
   5.1. Basic Workflow
   When the shop runs out of computers or it does not have enough computer to sell, the owner request more and more computers. The supplier receives information of the order computers and delivers those to the shop. The owner receives the ordered computers and bills. He/she pays money, and the supplier receives money for the imported computers. The business case ends.

6. Category
   The business use-case is a management category.
7. Risk
   No special.
8. Possibilities
   No special.
9. Process Owner
   The process owner of this use-case is the supplier who deals with the situation when receives a request from the computer shop owner to get more computers.
10. Special Requirements
    No special.

11. Extension Points
    No Extension Point.